

Presents
A Business, Economics and Public Policy Seminar series

*From Iron Fist to Invisible Hand:
The Uneven Path of Telecommunications Reform in China*

- How did China grow from 2 million to 750 million phones in 25 years?
- Does the Internet accelerate reform?
- Why might increasing public participation in government strengthen government authority?

A presentation by

Irene Wu

Director of Research for the International Bureau
Federal Communications Commission

Irene S. Wu, Ph.D. currently represents the FCC to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and on international trade discussions. She is an adjunct professor in the Communications, Culture, and Technology program and holds degrees from Harvard University and Johns Hopkins University's SAIS.

Wednesday, April 15th, 2009

12:00 – 1:30 PM

205 Old North

Lunch will be provided

RSVP to Andrea Salvatore at ams287@georgetown.edu.

This program is sponsored by the Georgetown Center for Business and Public Policy, a non-partisan research center housed at Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business.